

ABSTRACT

[PROBLEMS] An object is to improve the convenience at the time of using the Internet by a portable terminal owned by a user.

5

[MEANS FOR SOLVING PROBLEMS] The present invention comprises a portal specifying information receiving device for receiving portal specifying information which specifies the contents of a portal site from a user through an input device; and an address
10 data storage device for reading out the address data accessible to the portal site which is specified according to the portal specifying information from an address data storage apparatus in which the address data is stored in advance through a data reading/writing device for storing it to a memory medium of the 15 portable terminal.